Negro Valet's Breakdown and Report of Predicted Murder Give Authorities New Clues in Search for Taylor's Assassin

Los Angeles.—Breakdown under questioning of Henry Peavey, negro valet of William Desmond Taylor and a report that he predicted the murder of the film director, marked the hunt for the slayer Monday.

William A. Pinkerton, head of the Pinkerton Detective Agency, after investigating the tragedy, said he was satisfied the assassin was a man. "It was not a woman's method of shooting," he said.

Detectives who suspect Edward F. Sands, former valet of Taylor and who have ascertained he was in Los Angeles the day of the killing, also have discovered that he boasted "of having the goods on Taylor."

Sands openly said, according to these detectives, "He must treat me right. I have the goods on him."

The Screen Writers Guild Monday announced an independent reward of $1,000 for the capture of Taylor's slayer.

Mabel Normand Monday was again near a nervous breakdown from the ordeal she has been through. She was under constant care of a physician and nurse and orders were issued to exclude all visitors for the next two days.

Police Monday were watching a new suspect in the case, whose identity was disclosed by a woman. The name of the suspect and the woman both are withheld. He is a new figure in the mystery.

QUIZ COLONY RESIDENTS

District Attorney Woolwine Monday was engaged in putting some members of the Hollywood movie colony through what amounts to a progressive third degree. The system consists of recalling them for questioning again and again and having them go over and over the same ground. In this way it is expected that any discrepancies will eventually be developed.

Neva Gerber, movie actress to whom Taylor once was engaged and to whom he gave many checks for various sums was called by Woolwine for interrogation Monday.

CHECKS FOR CHARITY

Miss Gerber in her statement, said that the checks given her were for charity and in payment for an automobile which Taylor gave her as a present during their engagement. The car she said was not entirely paid for when purchased and Taylor gave her the checks to complete the payments. The last check that Taylor gave her for $500, Miss Gerber said was to help her over temporary financial straits. Taylor, she said, knew she was "handing up" for money and sent her the check.

Taylor's check book showed that this last $500 payment was made three weeks ago although the engagement between the director and the film actress ended two years before. Miss Gerber said that she and Taylor had remained the best of friends.

SAYS HE IS HEIR

San Francisco.—A claimant to the estate of the murdered movie director William Desmond Taylor, has appeared here.

William Edward Taylor planned to leave Monday for Los Angeles in an attempt to establish that he is a son of the slain man. Similarity of pictures of the Los Angeles man with his recollection of pictures of his father led William Edward Taylor to believe that he had at last located his father.

The San Francisco Taylor believes the man who was assassinated in Hollywood is his father who married his mother, Olive Randall, in Wallace, Kansas, in 1890, moving soon to Wyoming where the local man was born. They were deserted in Wyoming by the husband and father, "Wm. Taylor" and the son was brought up by his grandfather to hate the very memory of his father.

SLIP THRU COPS' HANDS AFTER TRY CAFE HOLDUP

By United Press Leased Wire Milwaukee.—Four armed and masked bandits escaped with $2,000 which they looted from the Charles Toy chow suey restaurant safe here early Monday.

Three of the men covered the proprietor and waiters with revolvers while the fourth rifled the safe. Patrolmen arrived just as the bandits fled down the rear steps. After reaching the street the bandits halted a taxicab and after being chased through the downtown district, made their escape.

PRAISES TAYLOR'S MANHOOD

By Mary Miles Minter
Los Angeles.—There is no personal or financial sacrifice I would not gladly make to bring the slayer of William Desmond Taylor to justice. Mr. Taylor was one of my best friends.

His death was a great shock to me. I met Mr. Taylor first in 1919 when he became my director. I was then 17 years of age and his inspiration, his unflinching courtesy, his consideration not only to me but to all with whom he came in contact, immediately won my highest admiration. From 1919 until the day of his death Mr. Taylor was to me a symbol of honor and manliness—a symbol of all that a girl admires in a man. His friendship was uplifting, his advice and aid invaluable. It would be nothing less than veritable ingratitude if I did not, now that he is dead, raise my voice to proclaim what he was, to repudiate those who would besmirch his character.

I have told the authorities all I know of both his life here and in the east. That I fear, has been of little aid to them. I cannot conceive the character of the person who would voluntarily wrong Mr. Taylor or cause his death.

SMOOT'S BOND PLAN TO EASE BONUS 'HOWL'

Senate Committee is Besieged With Opposition to Further Taxation

By United Press Leased Wire Washington.—The idea of financing the soldier bonus through a short time bond flotation is gaining converts in congress.

Senator Smoot, who Saturday night told President Harding the country would not stand for the tax method, declared to the United Press Monday his belief that the house bonus conference had swung to his advocacy of the bond plan. Harding was understood to be planning an early conference with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Business, Smoot declared, could not stand more taxes. Repeal of the senate finance committee and the house ways and means committee continued their deliberations over the ways and means committee's tax scheme and the new bond issue. The tax scheme had provoked a tremendous wave of opposition from all over the country. Big business, agriculture, the average man all were represented in the "howl" a protest so mighty that some senators believed the bonus would die in transit if congress persisted in trying to pay the bonus through taxes on business and individuals.

Smoot minced no words in his talk with President Harding. He told the executive, in substance, that the country was opposed to more taxes to pay a bonus. "Business," he told the United Press, "is carrying all the tax it can bear. If there isn't a revival of business there won't be any work. I am in favor of reducing taxes rather than increasing them."

BRYAN TO SEEK SENATE BERTH FROM FLORIDA

"Wet" Democracy in Nebraska Causes Commotion to Change Residence

By United Press Leased Wire Washington.—Early announcement of William J. Bryan's candidacy for the United States senate is expected by his friends in Washington.

It was made known Monday. Bryan is expected to seek the seat now occupied by Senator Park Trammell, a Democrat, completing his first term, and will seek re-election and re-election.

Though Bryan is regarded as a Nebraskan, he will acquire citizenship in Florida early in April. By that time he will have complied with the law requiring one year's residence in the state as a prerequisite to voting.

HARDING PLEA FOR TREATIES LIKE WILSON'S

Democrats Now Occupy Position of G.O.P. When World War Pact Was Offered

MAY OPPOSE PACIFIC PACT

Lodge Paragraphs of Partisan Rebuke Believed Inserted in Speech to Senate

By David Lawrence
Copyright 1922, by Post Pub. Co. Washington.—The first impulse of the Democrats in the United States senate is to ratify the group of treaties submitted by President Harding though in so doing they have in their hearts an unmistakable feeling that they ought to make an exception of the four-power Pacific treaty.

This treaty which puts an end to the Anglo-Japanese alliance will be considered last and will be debated more than the others. President Harding's address to the senate is the subject of much discussion in congressional circles. Its general effect was beneficial. But several senators are suggesting that Mr. Harding, who from the start has shown little desire to use his addresses to the senate for partisan rebukes, permitted himself to be drawn into unnecessary expression of disdain for the league of nations. One senator suggested that Henry Cabot Lodge contributed liberally to the president's manuscript and that these portions are the authorship of Mr. Lodge, who has not forgotten the league of nations fight.

Except for the reference to the league which stirred up the applause of the anti-leaguers and provoked a resentful silence on the part of the Democrats, the speech was regarded by senators generally as a splendid argument for ratification.

It was pointed out that President Harding uses language almost identical with that of President Wilson in submitting the Versailles treaty and covenant. Mr. Wilson declared that there is no compulsion "except the compulsion of our good conscience and duty" in the league covenant and in the article which pledged a respect for territorial integrity. Mr. Harding declares there is "no commitment to armed force, no alliance, no written, or moral obligation to join in defense, no expressed or implied commitment to arrive at any agreement" and he adds "in accordance with our constitutional methods."

Wilson "ADVISED"

Mr. Wilson pointed out that the council of the league "advises" what should be done to enforce respect for the covenant and said: "If in the judgment of the people the United States the council declared wrong and there was not a case for the use of force, there would be no necessity on the part of the congress of the United States to vote the use of force. But there could be no advice of the council on any subject without a unanimous vote and the unanimous vote includes our own and if we accepted the advice we would be accepting our own advice."

And here is what Mr. Wilson supported in the famous Article Ten: "The members of the league undertake to respect and preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league. In case of any such aggression or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression the council shall advise upon the means by which this obligation shall be fulfilled." "The Republicans in the senate didn't accept Mr. Wilson's interpretation of what the word 'advise' meant. They said it meant 'fight,' with the Democrats now accept Mr. Harding's interpretation—his denial that the four-power pact contains any obligation to fight against external aggression. 'Advise and confer' do not mean a conference hostile to the power or powers who threaten to violate the new treaties."

25,000 STRIKE IN PROTEST AGAINST TEXTILE WAGE CUT

Slash of 20 Per cent Necessary in Business Crisis, Plant Heads Say

By United Press Leased Wire Boston, Mass.—Approximately 25,000 textile workers employed in mills in New Hampshire and Massachusetts went on strike Monday in protest against a 20 per cent wage reduction. Early reports received here from New Hampshire indicated the strike was 100 per cent effective there.

The 20 per cent wage reduction, effective Monday, also restores the 54-hour working week.

Early 50,000 mill operatives in four northern New England states came under the wage cut. Manufacturers, announcing the wage slash, declared in a statement that economic and industrial conditions demand this step in the return to normal conditions.

Department of labor representatives sent here from Washington, were "observing" the strike. Police and pickets appeared about all plants affected by the strike.

Put Movie Folk In S.S. Class, Minister Says

Chicago.—The Rev. George G. Dowey, Third Presbyterian church, Monday proposed that Will Hays, new director general of the movies, organize a Sunday school class for film stars when he arrives at Hollywood.

"Hays is an elder in the Presbyterian church," the Rev. Mr. Dowey said. "Although there are 20,000,000 Sunday school members in the country there is still room for a class with Will Hays as teacher and the ten commandments as the text."

The minister said the parties at Hollywood reminded him of "the feast of Belshazzar."

CUT SECRECY OUT OF TAXES, BLAINE URGES

Badger Governor Delivers Address on Taxation Before Peoples Forum

"A ratio between property tax and income tax which would not burden all increased cost of improvements on the property owner while the income tax payer has a fixed rate is one of the greatest taxation needs of the day. The farmer cannot pay more real and personal property tax and continue to farm. The need to abolish the secrecy clause from the income tax law which is paralyzing the government in collecting taxes from corporations and individuals who are making dishonest fraudulent or erroneous returns is equally important."

That was the keynote of the address on "Taxation" by Governor J. J. Blaine before an immense audience in Lawrence Memorial chapel Sunday evening under auspices of the Peoples Forum. It was one of the largest crowds ever at a forum meeting here.

The governor was introduced by Judge G. J. Tiesebusch, who paid glowing tribute to Abraham Lincoln whose birthday anniversary was being celebrated.

The musical program prior to the address was rendered by the One Hundred Twenty-first artillery band.

SHOULD STUDY TAXES

In closing his address, the governor spoke emphatically on the great need for a more complete understanding of taxation aside from the mere fact of paying taxes. He said children in the schools should be taught about taxation as it relates to the township, city, county and state; they should be taught definitely concerning the levy for schools, public health, protection of life and property, administration of government.

"We seldom realize," said the governor, "that the state pays $4,000,000 more for war purposes than it costs for school, town, city and county purposes. Wisconsin pays one-tenth of the federal levy in direct and indirect federal taxation. For every dollar which you pay into the several treasuries of the state, you pay $2 to run all the departments of the federal government."

"When Mr. Mellon, secretary of the treasury of the United States, said that the government cannot collect the taxes due the government from incomes, he in effect charged the profiteers and millionaires with resorting to legal devices and tricks for the purpose of cheating the government. The governor said: 'It is an astounding inquiry: Is it true that the government is powerless to enforce the laws against the rich?' The secretary of the treasury of the United States confesses that it is."

"But are these any reasons why we should not make it worth while to see to it that all men are equal before the law, when it comes to taxation? We hear much eloquence about law

"UNCLE JOE" IS TO QUIT CONGRESS

Cannon, 46 Years a Legislator, Says He is Too Old and Eyes Are Poorly

Washington.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon is going to quit congress. After 46 years of almost continuous service in congress where he is the oldest man, both in years and point of service, he announced Monday that he will not be a candidate next fall to succeed himself as representative of the eighteenth Illinois district. "I will not be a candidate for election to the sixty-eighth congress," the statement said. That was all but to friends the veteran legislator, whose name has been a household word throughout America for more than four decades, said that he feels he should retire and let a younger man in.

6,000 Workmen Lose Savings In "Ponzi" Crash

R. A. Bischoff's Transactions Involve $4,500,000, Mostly Accumulations of "Little Poland" People in Stockyards Area

SAYS LAW CAN'T TOUCH HIM

Attempt to Control Oil Company is Said to Be Reason for Downfall—Said People Wanted Him to Invest Money for Them

(By United Press Leased Wire)

Chicago.—Raymond J. Bischoff asked Federal Judge Landis Monday to give him a month's time to recuperate part of the losses of 3,500 workers of "little Poland" who invested $4,500,000 in savings with him.

Bischoff, Chicago "Ponzi" was called before the court to tell why he should not be declared a bankrupt. Action was brought against Bischoff by creditors.

"Give me one month, judge and I'll be able to pay back 75c on the dollar," Bischoff told the court. "I would not be in this plight if I hadn't been doublecrossed by Chicago financiers."

Bischoff admitted to the court that he had deserted from both the American and Canadian armies during the world war.

Thousands of stockyard workers in "little Poland" whose savings were wiped out in the crash of Bischoff, will receive but 10 cents on the dollar, his attorneys said Monday. Authorities state that $4,500,000 was involved in his financial crash. Practically the entire sum came from savings of the 6,000 foreign born in the "back of the yards" district, it was said.

The "boy wizard" promised to pay 100 cents on the dollar eventually. Bischoff denied that his operations were similar to those of Charles Ponzi, Boston, who is now serving a prison term.

"They cannot send me to jail," he said, "as I have violated no law. The people wanted me to invest their money for them. I told them they were gambling. I merely gave the investors personal notes. They cannot jail a man for inability to pay debts."

Judge Landis appointed the Central Trust company as receiver for Bischoff Saturday on application of three creditors who said he owed them $1,000.

Attorney E. R. Tiedebohl, attorney for the receiver, state Monday that no grounds for criminal prosecution under federal statutes had yet been discovered.

Bischoff's undoing, he said, was due to an attempt to gain control of the X. Oil and Gas company. Later, he stated, he helped reorganize the Lakantys Oil company, which proved unprofitable.

The dealings of Bischoff came under the eye of federal authorities last year when reports became current that as high as from 40 to 100 per cent profit was paid out by Bischoff on investments.

OVERTIME BAN IS AID TO 'ALLIANCE'

Chicago.—Discontent of railway signalmen, stripped of overtime pay by a ruling of the United States railroad board, added impetus to the proposed "defensive alliance" of railroad and mine workers Monday.

The railroad board, in a decision, overthrew the working agreements allowing overtime for all work after eight hours. In the future, overtime work will be paid only after ten hours work, although eight hours still remains as the basic day. The regular rate is also to be paid for Sunday and holiday work.

The ruling of the board hits 12,000 men and becomes effective next Thursday. The railroad board will soon announce changes in working rules for firemen, train dispatchers and express employees.

Headings on applications of wage slashes by carriers will be started before the United States railroad board March 6. At the same time, the board will consider rail union applications for increased compensation.

70 MILLIONS CUT FROM 1923 NAVY BUDGET

Huge Savings Are Urged by Denby—Warns Against Cutting Personnel

Washington.—A saving of $70,000,000 will be effected in next year's naval budget, Secretary of the Navy Denby Monday told the house naval affairs committee. Denby appeared to urge against trimming the personnel of the navy to the point where efficiency would be endangered. Denby said the navy could be manned with 90,000 men and 6,000 apprentice seamen. He opposed cutting down the commissioned line personnel. Other recommendations include appointments to the naval academy be reduced from five to three to each congressman; putting 100 destroyers out of commission and commissioning of the naval academy class graduating in June.

If I Were Handy With Tools

BY GO-GETTER

I would have people calling on me to mend chairs, to hang doors, to repair porches, to lay floors, to do any of the hundred-and-one things that must be done sometime or other in every house. I wouldn't have to go out and look for these jobs. They would come to me instead. You can bet your bottom dollar on that. Because I would tell Appleton families about the things I could do. That is, I would tell a Post-Crescent Van; I told them. I would be too busy filling orders to look for new business myself.

CHESTER WHITE BREEDERS HOLD SALE WEDNESDAY

40 HIGH GRADE HOGS TO GO ON AUCTION BLOCK

Outagamie County Establishing Reputation as Hog Breeding Center

Appleton is to make agricultural history again when Outagamie County Chester White Breeders' association holds its consignment sale at 12:30 Wednesday in the basement of the armory. This will be the first sale of this breed of hogs in this part of Wisconsin and one of the best held anywhere in the state.

Ability of the sales committee of the association to make selections of sufficient quality to conduct a large sale indicates how this locality is strengthening itself as a Chester White market. Salesmen of Chester Whites also have been coming into the county because of the popularity of this breed. A visit to any of the larger markets has shown breeders that the white animal predominates.

Forty breed girls and sows offered at the sale were selected carefully from the best of the county. Some of the popular breeds are those from Seneca's King, Petroleum Pilot, Clover Mock Butter and other sires of equal prominence feature the hogs to be offered. Big type animals were sought, because they are essential to profitable marketing in this time.

Road conditions may be especially bad here, but officials believe there will be a record turnout to witness the auctioneering by J. H. Dennhardt of Neenah. Almost all the buyers will be farmers of this locality, which carries out the wish of Chester White enthusiasts to spread the purebred hog doctrine to other farms. Comfortable seats in a warm salesroom will be provided for several hundred.

MANY SEEK SEATS AT CHOIR CONCERT

Many reservations have been made for the recital of the Lawrence choir Tuesday evening in Lawrence Memorial chapel. The choir will be assisted by Miss Marie Sidenius Zandt, well known Chicago soloist who has toured the country as an oratorio artist. The choir itself is rapidly acquiring a reputation as the best choral organization in the state and the middle west. Dean Carl J. Watkinson will lead the choir. Many of the members on the program are new to Appleton audiences. The choir includes the entire personnel of the Lawrence Men's glee club besides more than 60 women's voices which have been well balanced for choral singing.

SNOW TOO LIGHT TO CAUSE TROUBLE

Street Cars and Trains Get Through Without Difficulty

Despite the long fall of snow Saturday night and Sunday, very little inconvenience was caused. The snow was extremely light and was easily pushed aside. Trains were running almost on schedule, and mail deliveries were promptly made. In fact there was not the slightest indication of a blizzard. Street car service was not interfered with in the least. All the cars made their trips at the usual time.

Rural mail carriers were not expecting much trouble when they started on their routes Monday morning. They believe the snow is so light that it will not greatly impede their progress.

The weather man predicts rising temperature and snow flurries for Tuesday. The entire Appleton street department force worked from noon until 10 o'clock Sunday night. All streets in the city were open to traffic Monday morning and people found no difficulty in reaching their places of business and employment.

The tractor plows and shovels were put to work first on streets in which there are car lines and work on other streets followed. A plow was put on the side walks on each side of College ave. early in the afternoon in order to get the snow off the walks before it became packed. Little work was done on side walks in other streets as the street department devoted the day to getting the roads opened.

LITTLE CHUTE ASKS FOR SCOUT TROOP

Boys' Organization Probably Will Be Formed in Down River Village

Leaders in boys work in Little Chute are making preparations to organize a Boy Scout troop and H. P. Buck, scout executive in the Appleton district, went to Little Chute Monday afternoon to aid in making plans to form a troop.

Scoutmasters of Appleton will meet at 5:30 Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. banquet rooms. Discussion of Boy Scout will follow a dinner.

Seventy-five boys, 25 from Appleton and 50 from Kaukauna, went on the anniversary hike Saturday. Camp was made on Fox river, two miles north of Appleton. The Kaukauna boys hiked to camp from Kimberly and the Appleton boys hiked from headquarters here. The Appleton group won the first contest of the day when Scouts sent out ahead reported the Kaukauna boys in sight before the Kaukauna scouts located them.

The Court of Honor announced the following boys as having passed merit badge tests: Donald Hyde, Troop 2, bird study; Cyril Azell, Troop 2, bird study; John Ryan, Troop 6, pioneering; conservation, forestry and surveying.

Schoolmates Are Guests

Miss Margaret Schultz, 812 Morrison st., entertained five schoolmates at her home Sunday afternoon. The time was spent informally with music and games.

FOUR WARDERS MAY ASK FOR FIREHOUSE

At the regular meeting of the common council to be held Wednesday evening in the council chamber it is expected that a petition from taxpayers in the Fourth ward will be presented asking that a fire station be established in the ward.

Routine business will be conducted at the meeting, but aside from the petition for a firehouse in the Fourth Ward, no business of special importance is expected to be introduced. Because the terms of six aldermen expire in April, persons in close touch with the city hall do not believe that matters of special importance will be brought before the council until after the election in April.

Menasha Road Too Cold For Coed Hikers

"Twas Jack Frost who forbid the knicker hike on Saturday for the Lawrence girls who had planned to hike to Neenah did not go. One by one, the hikers decided not to go because it was so dreadfully cold. Finally only a handful of staunch exercisers for health's sake was left and these were ready to go.

They asked some of the college men about the weather for the hike and one or two who knew how cold that road to Menasha can be when the wind sweeps from the west to the lake discouraged them. The girls reluctantly gave up their trip but by superlative means were saying: "Isn't it lucky that we didn't go on that hike? My dears, we would have frozen stiff by the roadside."

3 Nights Starting Tonight

"Hall's Minstrel Revue"

Songs Dances Humor

Of Interest!

Those who desire a clean wholesome treat in the form of a "Minstrel" will do well to go to the Bijou and see Hall's Minstrel Review. Mr. Hall, manager actor of this aggregation is well known to Appleton residents, as he was some eight years ago, manager of the Bijou theatre, and had a fine stock company under the reign of Harry Danforth.

Mr. Hall is as you will all remember a dapper chap with a pleasing personality, which won for him a multitude of friends.

He has a happy faculty of doing things at the proper time, and knows the tastes of the theatregoing public, and tries to please them.

He is a clever vocal imitator and his baby, bird and animal imitations are perfect.

Laura Lauraine, a dashing young woman, a pronounced Italian blonde is the interlocutor of the minstrel show. She is a fine singer and her yodling is excellent, which captures her audiences wherever she goes.

Miss Lorraine was in stock too, with Mr. Hall, and played sixteen weeks in comedy sketches, and she has a host of admirers who will be glad to see her once more. Her wardrobe is excellent, and what she does, she does well always.

Her smile is a prize winner and a mascot to the company.

Ted Cornell, the John McCormack of vaudeville is a handsome, graceful young man and knows how to sing a ballad from dramatic down to rural and then some. His voice is as clear as a bell and wonderfully sweet and plaintive.

Apple Sauce Jack Cassin and Cornfield Billy Williams are the two end men of the show, and are the laugh producers of the highest order, ranking second to none in their respective lines.

They are capable actors and can bring a laugh out of a bronze statue, so natural and original are their jokes and witticisms.

They are well known end men and black face comedians, and have been with the best minstrel shows in the country.

They are good dancers and versatile to a marked degree. They work hard and are full of pep and above all clean.

The show is good, and you will get your money's worth with no regrets attached to it.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR MEETING OF COUNTY PIONEERS

Banquet, Program and Business Meeting on Program for Feb. 22

Committees which have been spending weeks preparing for the golden jubilee convention of the Outagamie Pioneer association to be held in Odd Fellow hall, Feb. 22, have announced that the last details have been perfected.

Special attention has been given every part of the program because of the fact that this is the fiftieth annual gathering of the association and marks a half century of pioneer fellowship.

Odd Fellow hall will open at 8 o'clock on the morning of the convention. At 10 o'clock the board of directors will hold a business meeting. An hour later a general meeting of members will be held. Official reports will be read and three directors will be elected. After this meeting the new directors will elect the officers of the association.

Aunt Mary Johnston is in charge of the banquet preparations. This has been her office for more than 30 years and members are looking forward to the fragrant coffee and other good things with which she has never failed them.

Dinner will be served at 11:45 in real pioneer style by the women's banquet committee. Every family will bring its own baskets of food. John Strange of Menasha will speak at the afternoon program which will begin at 12:45. This will be followed with talks by Francis J. Rooney and others. A large and pleasing variety of musical numbers have been selected for the program.

HONOR LINCOLN AT STUDENT PROGRAM

Dr. J. N. McHarg Gives Interesting Personal Touches of Great Martyr

The Lincoln program at Lawrence college on Monday morning was one of the most inspiring which has been given recently. Dr. J. B. MacHarg, professor of American history at the college had charge of the program. In his tribute to Abraham Lincoln, Dr. MacHarg emphasized Lincoln's qualities of unselfishness, honesty, and practical wisdom. He mentioned also that Lincoln was truly religious and that his faith in God was fixed; he told of his sense of humor, the simplicity of his life, its essential purity and of the president's commanding presence.

From his close connection with the life of Lincoln in American history, Dr. MacHarg was able to bring to the students many interesting and unusual personal touches from Lincoln's life. He drew attention to that famous letter to Mrs. Bixby who lost five sons in the war which stands out as a specimen of the purest English and most elegant diction extant.

In speaking of the qualities of the great man, Dr. MacHarg said: "No, in those and other things he was matched and surpassed by other men but in superlative unselfishness and its expression, in utter integrity and in unerring practical wisdom, he stands out as a specimen of the purest English and most elegant diction extant."

FOUR APPLETON MEN GO TO LUMBERMEN'S MEET

William Pountain, a member of the board of directors, J. L. Hettlinger, O. E. Knoke and E. W. Gutschow leave for Milwaukee Tuesday, where they will attend the thirty-second annual convention of the Wisconsin Retail Lumbermen's association which will be in session at Pfister hotel Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Among the social features of the program is a theatre party at Davidson theatre Wednesday evening.

FOUR SEASONS OF A LIFETIME ARE PICTURED HERE TOGETHER

Family photographs like the one printed herewith, representing four generations, are mighty rare in these days of speed and for this reason the few that do come to public attention are regarded with a great deal of interest, perhaps with a little envy on the part of some.

John Kohl I, at the lower left, has that typical grandfatherly appearance often pictured on the covers of magazines around Thanksgiving or Christmas time. Unbent and ruddy of face in spite of years of pioneering, Mr. Kohl carries his 74 years as lightly as any oak that is covered with snowflakes. His home is at 1167 Packard-st.

The seventy-fourth anniversary of his birth will be celebrated Wednesday, Feb. 15, and it was planning for this occasion that prompted the taking of this photograph. He was born Feb. 15, 1848 in Hesse-Darmstadt, a village in the province of Baden, Germany. He came to America with his parents in 1852 and lived with them in Milwaukee-on, for ten years. Then the family moved to a quarter section of wilderness timber land, four and a half miles northwest of Appleton; on what is known as the School section road.

REAL FIGHT FOR LIFE
From the start, life was a battle for the young pioneer. The endless forest of mixed timber seemed to challenge the settler to go out and wrestle with it. Day after day he invaded the woods with his axe and as fast as a considerable clearing could be made the huge logs were dragged into a pile and burned. Rough wagon roads offered the only means of transportation about the settlement and the use of these, especially at night, was very hazardous because they were bordered with a myriad of sharp stumps.

Bears and deer which thickly inhabited the country at that time looked at the settlers with a mingled attitude of fear, curiosity and friendliness. Mr. Kohl relates how exceedingly difficult it was to rear a flock of chickens or a brood of porkers because many of the wild animals had a great liking for tender chicken and pork chops. Often aroused by the squeals of a fairsized pig he would take his gun and hurry toward the pen, many times to see a large bear or a big timberwolf making a successful getaway with the helpless animal. Mr. Kohl was married to Elizabeth Fries in Appleton, Nov. 23, 1869. Their reared a family of nine children, Michael, in the photograph, Annie,

Joseph, Mrs. Theresa Schultz, Mrs. Louisa Heideman, Magdalena, George Charles and Mrs. Emma Wyatt. With the exception of Mrs. Wyatt who lives at Greeley, Colo., all the children live in or near Appleton. Mr. and Mrs. Kohl lived on the farm until 12 years ago when they moved to this city. Mrs. Kohl died three years ago. Michael Kohl, now 52, was married to Elizabeth Weiland, Sept. 28, 1893. Their family consisted of John Kohl II who is also on the picture, Mrs.

SAY NO ACTION WAS TAKEN ON YELLOW TRAIL MATTER

No action on the matter of continued support toward the Yellowstone trail was taken Thursday evening at a meeting of the directors of Appleton Chamber of Commerce, according to a statement issued Saturday. It was said the matter was discussed but no vote was taken to decide whether the city should continue to pay its assessments to the Yellowstone Trail association.

Pastors of other churches will be invited here to take part in the service at St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran church Feb. 26, to observe the fifteenth anniversary of the dedication of the building.

The first service of the day will be in German at 9 o'clock followed by one in English at 10:15. Another service will be held at 2:30 in the afternoon. Lunch and dinner will be served in St. Paul school by the Ladies Aid society. Special collections will be taken.

The Rev. T. J. Sauer, pastor, announced Sunday that all plans for the dedication anniversary have been completed.

CANADA REFUSES TO TAKE UNUSED STAMPS

Unused Canadian stamps held by American citizens are no longer returnable to Canada, according to a ruling made by the Canadian postal service and announced in the postal bulletin received at Appleton post-office Monday. This means that firms in this country holding Canadian stamps cannot mail them back to the dominion. It is not known whether this ruling makes it impossible for Americans to redeem such stamps of whether it will be possible to receive cash for them by negotiating through proper channels.

You Are Especially Invited To Inspect An Initial Showing of the New Spring Suits in the ready-to-wear section this week

WHO will not be pleased to know that this is to be a "suit season?" There is always room in one's wardrobe for a tailored suit, but Fashion dictates that the suit shall have first place in the Spring mode.

The suit of tricotine or twill seems to hold first place in this category of new arrivals. They come in fresh guises, in youthful, loose box-coats or more fitted lines. Jackets are no longer long. Finger-tip or shorter length prevail, with a few exceptions for the tall willowy type who must have her jacket longer than the average.

Smart three piece suits are winning much favor. They appeal directly to the woman who does not favor the skirt and waist costume, for without the coat, a chic frock is revealed, to be worn with a guimpe or tailored blouse.

You may need just a little touch of color, or a bit of novelty to perfect your suit and you will find us always more than pleased to show you the new things.

SPRING neckwear adds a note of freshness to the Spring costume.

Especially new are the Point Luce collars selling at 48c—then the lace Vestees with collars attached are very popular, too, at 89c and 98c. Many women prefer to buy their collars and vests by the yard and make them up. We have just received some beautiful vestings and bandings selling from 85c to $3.75 per yard.

IF beauty must be veiled, let your new veils be wide in mesh.

"Veils"—the very word seems to hold enchantment. For centuries beautiful women have accentuated their own natural beauty with veils. Again Paris says "Veils" and decrees that they be of wide and medium mesh. You will find our assortment of veilings very complete and priced reasonably, from 25c to 85c yard.

DOGS THE PRESIDENT'S FOOTSTEPS

President Harding's address to the senate in submitting to it the Arms conference treaties is a logical and compelling argument for their ratification. The treaties are statesmanly engagements in behalf of peace and good understanding, and for relieving humanity of the impossible burdens of armaments. There is not one of the seven agreements negotiated to which sound exception can be taken. They were entered into in the full light of day and with what was at all times apparent, a desire to promote in good faith international harmony, to remove possible causes of friction in China and the Pacific and to insure the friendly relationships of the nations concerned in that part of the world.

As a result of these treaties the "yellow peril," with which our militant and jingoistic politicians used to delight in frightening the country and to carry it forth "in the next war," has completely disappeared. The fact that there never was anything to this boggy was abundantly proven by the ease and dispatch with which the interest of Japan and the United States were reconciled. It is a statesmanly achievement of the first order. For the first time since the powers of the world set on to dispossess China, the hand of the oppressor is lifted and China sees the rising sun of freedom. The conference is epoch making in that it took up and disposed of questions that had previously been regarded as too delicate or too perilous to admit of even discussion. The Shantung issues, which was one of the shibboleths raised against the League of Nations, faded into thin air. Does anyone now imagine that Shantung could have wrecked the League or in any way obstructed its objectives?

The president is right in asking for the immediate ratification of these treaties, which compass a rebirth of liberty to China, an effective barrier against aggression in the Far east, justice and fair dealing between these nations in conference and relief of humanity from the colossal economic waste that went into armament. None but the most saturnalistic objection can be raised to their ratification and the great end they honorably and constructively set out to accomplish.

If the president is carried to undue and unwarranted assumptions in defense of them, such for instance as his attempt to show that the four-power treaty is not essentially a defensive alliance, and his involved and contradictory efforts to differentiate the work of the conference from the fundamental objects of the League of Nations, and again his fallacious reasoning that the sovereignty of the nations is not abridged, the country will overlook this because it makes no difference whether he is right or wrong, although it is evident that he is wrong. The moral obligations of the nation are clearly defined, and our involvement in the affairs of foreign nations is unmistakable but they are wholesome obligations and involvements. Equally untenable is the president's hypothesis back settlement of the Far eastern problem is a guarantee of world peace, on the theory that Europe is unable to engage in war. The potential causes of conflict in Europe remain as they were, the great menace to universal peace.

The League of Nations, which offers the only stabilizing force for world peace, dogs the president at every step. He tries to shake off the pursuing shadow but in vain. In asking the senate to ratify the treaty negotiated at Washington he presents unanswerable arguments for the League of Nations. He does not seem to see that if the nations gathered as they were at Washington could settle such intricate and serious questions before that conference wisely and sanely, they could do the same with other questions, indeed all of the questions which may be brought within the jurisdiction of the League of Nations.

MAYOR CRYER'S DEFENSE OF HOLLYWOOD

Concerning the Arbuckle case and the Taylor murder Mayor Cryer of Los Angeles has issued a statement such as might be expected from a public official of the political type. He says what every fair-minded person believes, regarding the respectable men and women connected with the motion picture industry, but his regret for the two tragedies so prominently before the country is so weakly expressed that the good people seem to be the foil for the bad.

The public unquestionably agrees with Mayor Cryer that the majority of artists and workmen engaged in the motion picture industry are reputable and high-minded. In character they doubtless compare with the general American standard. The Los Angeles chief executive need not trouble himself that the people respect those who are clean and conscientious.

It is neither creditable nor desirable to defend respectable artists and workmen from imaginary criticism. Such a defense smacks as a condonation of the evils in the Hollywood and every other motion picture colony. Unnecessary defense of those whose probity is undoubted can serve only as a screen behind which the trash of the industry may hide. It would be wiser and better to say that the respectable majority in the industry deplore the degradation of the riff-raff and that they are willing to cooperate to root it out.

Cheap and suggestive comedies and dramas have not only given employment to undesirable players or so-called players, but their very looseness of morals and decency has tended to debauch those who produce them. The solution lies in raising the moral and artistic quality of pictures, and this is up to the motion picture industry. Unclean actors and moral degenerates cannot produce clean pictures. They will be without an occupation if the pictures themselves are of the right sort.

WASHINGTON'S TWENTY-ONE POINTS

Army and navy engineers who inspected the Knickerbocker theatre building in Washington, to find the cause of the loss of ninety-four human lives by the fall of the roof, submitted their report at the coroner's inquest. Falling of the roof, they said, was "a direct result of failure to provide sufficiently for the unusual conditions existing at the junction of the curved Columbia road wall to the stage wall."

Then the engineers specifically mention twenty-one weak points, or evidence, in the structure itself. These are just a few of the evidences of weakness which these engineers report they found. Use of tile walls to carry heavy concentrated loads; unusual height and length of unsupported tile wall on Columbia road; lack of a column with kneebrace or pilasters under the main truss at the wall; insufficient anchorage of steel to walls; roof slab too thin for span and loading and insufficient steel reinforcement.

The twenty-one evidences of weakness are really one point, and that is apparently indifferent building inspection, or no building inspection at all. If the army and navy engineers discovered vital structural weaknesses after the fall, efficient inspectors could have done so before the calamity.

But let us be cautious about denouncing Washington. There are firetraps and death hazards in semi-public buildings in Appleton and every other city, yet we connive at the danger. Investors complain that it would cost too much to make buildings safe, or to raze them, and public officials venerate vested capital until a catastrophe occurs, when they stifle conscience by fooling themselves and the public with investigations.

Reform in the Lecture Trade

Need of reform is evident in an important branch of import trade. If we are to continue to receive foreign lectures brought to this country by the foreign lecturers the business should be systematized and made to conform to certain recognized standards.

In the current discussion of the tariff much is heard about American valuation of imports. It is a subject on which the experts differ. But when the principle of American valuation is applied to the import trade in lectures, there is no room for argument. It is clearly the proper method of assessing value. The coming of men and women from other lands to talk to American audiences is a good thing, if the wages they bring with them are up to the American standard. That being the case, this import trade is one that tends to better understanding between peoples, but care should be taken to see that the importations can meet the test of American valuation.—BOSTON TRANSCRIPT (Ind. SALUBRIOUS CONVOLUTIONS

Old age is now a noble if taken in time. Effective treatment should begin before the onset of the incipient stage of the disease, which is that sad false dignity put upon us by the customs of ultra-civilization. False dignity makes us ashamed to run and frolic and play like young animals, and at a period of life when by rights we should yet be children. Direct your sore eyes at the precocious dress and make up of the school children and you will understand what I mean. Old age is a state of mind. It is fatuous to repeat that a man is as old as his arteries. His arteries have nothing whatever to do with his physiological age. The man is as old as he thinks, and thoughts and the modes of life they inspire certainly do run in families. Grandfather and father can't hand down their arteries but they do more or less mold one's habit of thought.

Tell me not in mournful numbers that you are a short lived family, for well I know the truth of the matter. Your family has fallen into a wrong way of thinking, and therefore a wrong way of living, and for that reason and no other do the members of your clan prematurely attain the deplorable state of mind of which you complain. Never mind your arteries or the height of your blood pressure. Those are secondary and unimportant features. Your arteries are as old as your skin, your eyes, your teeth, your lungs, and your feet, but not older; the state of your arteries and your blood pressure is determined by your thinking and your living; they are convenient gages wherewith to measure a man's physiological age; but do not imagine that your condition is determined by the degree of fibrosity in your arteries.

The most disastrous effect dignity has upon us is perhaps the manifold evils of bad posture. The belly (which, as some of your know, is the front wall of the abdomen) slumps from sheer weakness and flabbiness of its unused muscles, and when this slump occurs the digestion, circulation and nervous system inevitably suffer more or less impairment of their functions. Corsets, belts, supporters and similar makeshifts fail far short of properly trained muscles in preventing these evils. The woman is well advised who resolves in her youth to eschew such snares and retain her figure, her health and her youth by training her own muscles to do their proper work. This requires regular daily exercise of course, about 15 minutes if properly directed, say along the lines of my symphony. From the hygienic point of view it is quite as wrong to omit the daily exercise as it is to skip the daily wash, even assuming one's occupation is so dirty as to necessitate daily body washing.

The revised symphony begins and ends with half a dozen rolls d-o-s-a-d-o-s, forward and backward, just as you sit in the right frame of mind to derive the fullest pleasure and benefit from the rest of the piece. Maybe you're to turn somersaults even forwards; maybe you're in the incipient stage of senility and merely unable to roll them back. Never mind. Keep trying. If at first you don't succeed just keep at it, and if your case is still amenable to treatment some fine day you'll find you can roll them forward and backward again.—(Mrs. K. K.)

Answer—If you are not a lover of this kind of music, I commend the practice of rolling some somersaults first thing each morning and last thing each night. Try it and you will agree it is very good medicine.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Deep Breathing

Is deep breathing good or harmful? What effect has deep breathing exercise?—(C. L. M.)

Answer—It is harmless for healthy persons, tho injurious for one who happens to have a disease of the lungs. Deep breathing exercises are of little value as compared with general exercises which naturally make one breathe harder and faster.

No Bad Feelings

Please tell me thru your paper what the symptoms of poor circulation are and whether it causes bad feelings in the head and pain.—(Mrs. K. K.)

Answer—I must ask you to excuse me from answering your question, for I do not think it is a fair or friendly thing for a doctor to suggest symptoms to readers. You may notice that symptoms receive very scant attention here. You see, this is a "Health" column. Your problem is one to submit to your physician.

Daily Editorial Digest

(Title Rev. U. S. Pat. Off.)

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

Was the "Bloc" Beheaded?

Popular endorsement of Senator Kenyon's fitness for a federal judgeship, "desperately and warmly cordial though it is," is almost lost in editorial speculation and discussion of the whys and wherefores of the appointment, and in the expression of a deeply-felt regret at his passing from the Senate. The NEW YORK GLOBE (Ind.) finds it "almost impossible to give any adequate explanation of why the Iowa leader accepted the appointment," since as the OREGON JOURNAL (Portland, Ind.) has it, he was "too big and too useful a man to be taken from the Senate and buried in a Federal judgeship."

A number of papers, however, find reason enough in the Senator's own mental attitude, for, according to the PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER (Ind.) he has been "sick at heart over 'Newberryism,' piqued, disillusioned, tired of the Senate and of politics," the AYON (O.) NEWS (Dem.) contends "of the progress fight he has been making against the strongly entrenched and what to him must have seemed at times insufferable reactionaries in the United States Senate." So, with "the Public Welfare Department which he longed for not yet established," the excellent constitution of amendment which he favored giving the President the power to veto individual items, "an appropriation bill still only a dream; the packers still free from the federal control he would put upon them," he passed, the NEW YORK TIMES (Ind. Dem.) says, to the studious and quiet usefulness of the bench.

While the SPRINGFIELD (Mo.) LEADER (Dem.) observes that he "did the best thing for Kenyon" in accepting the appointment "which would not have been declined by any member of the Senate," the DES MOINES CAPITAL (Rep.) rather "fully justified" in making the change in his service to the public since "his ambition has been to serve on the federal bench" a capacity in which, the paper holds "he will have opportunity to follow the same ideals that he has pursued in the Senate."

Because of those ideals the PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN (Ind. Rep.) regards his appointment "an admirable one" for, as the MINNESOTA STAR (Minneapolis, Ind.) declares, "a man of Kenyon's type is certainly needed on the bench." He will "bring to the bench that human quality of which it is in great need," the NORFOLK (Nat. News) believes, and therefore the OMAHA WORLD HERALD (Ind.) commends his appointment "a distinct gain for the federal judiciary," as the Iowa Senator is "just the type of man most needed in that great and powerful branch of the national government," possessing, the IRT VAYNE JOURNAL GAZETTE (Dem.) feels, "an instinctive sense of justice."

But granting all that is said in praise of his qualifications as judge, many writers agree with the GREEN BAY PRESS GAZETTE (Ind.) that his going is "a greater loss to the Senate than gain to the judiciary," and, as the DULUTH HERALD (Ind.) puts it, "nobody is going to be especially happy about the loss of Mr. Kenyon." "Is needed where he is," the GRAND RAPIDS HERALD (Ind.) asserts, for "the United States Senate is none too strong today, in its personnel at best and its standing with the country is none too good," while the NEW ORLEANS STATES (Dem.) feels that "the man in the body commands more generally the respect and esteem of the whole country." Iowa "loses," comments the SIOUX CITY TRIBUNE (Ind.), she, "has been proud of her Junior Senator," and the JOURNAL (Rep.) of the same city feels that the state "will miss the strength that he has contributed to the battle for righteousness and square dealing." In death there will be general regret throughout the West," the ROCKY MOUNTAIN NEWS (Denver, Ind.) thinks, for, as the ST. PAUL NEWS (Ind.) expresses it, his withdrawal from the Senate "is a bitter blow to the vast agricultural interests" of the country.

But precisely because of the power these agricultural interests had, he was developing in support of them, as an head of the agrarian bloc in Congress, many editors find it reasonable to suppose, with the HARTFORD TIMES (Dem.) that "President Harding was intensely pleased at being able to gratify the Iowa Senator's ambition" for a federal judgeship. Briefly, the NEW YORK WALL STREET JOURNAL (Ind.) relates, "have a way of disposing of the inconvenient activities of a too independent member of Parliament by persuading the King to confer upon him the honor of peerage. The device is called 'kicking him upstairs.'" That this "what happened to Kenyon" is "as plain as the nose on one's face," the FLORIDA METROPOLIS (Jacksonville, Dem.) contends, and many writers, chiefly Democratic, agree, Kenyon was a thorn in the side of the "administration," the NEWARK NEWS (Ind.) asserts, and an executive "who is going to be hanged takes him out of the picture, killed by kindness." In any event, the BIRMINGHAM NEWS (Dem.) is convinced that "the kindness" was not altogether guileless.

This explanation, however, which the NEW YORK TRIBUNE (Rep.) calls purely "fantasy" is a "gratuitous bit of partisan degeneracy," declares the MINNEAPOLIS TRIBUNE (Ind.). Even, as the PITTSBURG PRESS (Ind.) says, "if such ignoble and partisan motives inspired the President," the implication that Kenyon proves himself a "political weakling" by accepting it is "decried by the papers as the CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR (Boston, Ind.) and the NEW YORK POST (Ind.) as unfair to the Senator."

Moreover, an imposing array of editorial opinion agrees with the PITTSBURG LEADER (Prog. Rep.) in the conclusion that Senator Kenyon's removal will break up the bloc is getting to a destination far ahead of schedule time. If that was the purpose it is "the worst political blunder Mr. Harding has yet made," the BALTIMORE SUN (Ind. Dem.) says, for, as the NEW YORK EVENING WORLD (Dem.) asserts he could "promote every member of the bloc without greatly disturbing its power," "Victories over principles are got as easily won," the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL (Rep.) observes, and "a righteous cause survives the generals who fall contending in its service." The bloc, the WATERBURY REPUBLICAN (Rep.) predicts, "will simply choose a new leader and continue to function."

Famine And Crime In Russia
The Soviet press as far back as July and August spoke frequently of the numerous children in the famine regions who were strangled or thrown into the Volga by their parents, who could not bear to watch them die slowly of hunger. In recent weeks the same papers indicate that the situation in this respect has if anything grown worse and that the number of infanticides from such causes is increasing.

PRAVDA of Petrograd mentions a few typical instances illustrating the horrible situation of the children in the famine region.
"In the Khvalinsk region," it says, "a Tartar peasant after losing all his children but one was going toward the city in the hope of placing his last one in the asylum. He had only a few versts (a verst is a little over half a mile) to go when he realized that he would be unable in his weakened condition to carry his son as far as the city."

"He set the boy down, and after offering a brief prayer seized a stone and killed him."
"In the same region another peasant who had seen his whole family die before his eyes resolved to quit the famine country and go to a more bountiful region. He was not far from home when passing through a wood, his horse dropped dead. Alone, without food, knowing his legs would not carry him far, the poor man took his own life. Other peasants passing that way the next morning found him hanging from a tree."

PRAVDA declares that the situation of the children is indescribable. In the Samara region "hundreds of abandoned children are counted by tens and hundreds of thousands. The lucky ones who have been taken into asylums share beds with three or four others or — as is often the case — sleep on the floor. Railroad stations are overflowing with abandoned children who have no other refuge."

PRAVDA continues, "the children who have been left to shift for themselves are observed to wander off into the forests. The terrible conditions of their life drive them back to the wild state. They live on roots and flee when an adult approaches."
The IZVESTIA of Moscow describing "the catastrophic conditions existing in the Ural province says:

"The peasants have reaped but two pounds of cereals to the acre sown, and are literally dying of hunger. Grain and bread are totally lacking. Many are emigrating to the Ukraine. 'Whole populations are fleeing, abandoning their lands and agricultural implements. The road they travel is lined with bodies. Bandits attack whole troops of emigrants and steal everything they possess. The unfortunate have no choice but to die where they are.'"

Hide And Seek In The Sea

London—Somewhere in the Pacific ocean today seven tin cans are drifting about. They contain messages for the Pacific Steam Navigation Company, says a letter in the LONDON "HERALD." The "Orinoco," which sailed from Liverpool, is to add to that number. Her tin cans will be flung overboard somewhere on the route to Rio Janeiro via the Straits of Magellan and Valparaiso.

"These drift-cans messages are to be sent like those used by the British and Danish scientists in the North Sea. In each can will be a request that the finder will inform the company of the position and time of recovery."

"Tin cans with messages complete were put into the Pacific Ocean on December 1st, 1920, October 1st, 1921, and November 17 and 20, 1921. None of these have yet been found."

"Mr. Basil Lubbock, writing to 'Sea Breezes,' states that Captain Taylor, of the Tamar, frequently put bottles overboard, and had two picked up in the sea. The wreckage of an old windjammer lost east of Falkland Islands took over two years to reach the coast of Western Australia."

A Wonderful Life

London—An idea of the extent of world-progress during the past century is gained from an account in the LONDON MAIL of a woman who lived to be 102 years of age, and during the span of her life saw the following come into daily use:
Steam railroads, photography, electric light, electric trains, motor-cars, telephones, telegraphy, aviation, wireless telegraphy, graphophones, typewriters, and the moving picture.

"She lived through the reign of six British sovereigns," declares the paper.

London Tenants Strike

London—A campaign to pay no rent has been started by tenants of municipal houses recently built at Derbyshire, because the town council has neglected to pave the back yards, make footpaths, provide lights, and to remove quagmires of mud, declares the LONDON CHRONICLE.

The tenants allege that the outside conditions of the properties would be officially condemned were they in the hands of private owners.

Buying new clothes to-day?

or are you just going to look around?

Either way—see these Schmidt suits before you make a decision.

If you're a "looker" you'll find them pleasant looking.

If you look and buy you'll have the assurance of a "good buy" and a good full measure of hard honest wear.

No matter which you do—or who you are—there's a courteous gentleman standing in our men's clothing department ready to wait on you when you come—to show you without saying a word about "selling" until you say so.

MATT SCHMIDT & SON
TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS FOR MEN

Sunday Sermon

(This is the second instalment of a sermon by the Rev. J. L. Menzner, pastor of the German Methodist church.)

What has the Bible to say about the universe coming into existence? We ask this question firmly believing the Bible to be the revealed word of God. Our text says, speaking of God and His word, "For with Thee is the fountain of life, in thy light shall we see the light." "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," how majestically these words sound through out the whole universe, and echo and re-echo from every planet. "For the heavens speak out and declare the glory of God, the earth is vibrant with their sound, for their line is gone out through all the earth and their words to the end of the world," and vibrant with this word, full of life eternal is also the great heart of humanity, for there is no speech nor language where their voice is not heard. "For in Him we live and move, and have our being," as Paul says. That central truth is the dominating note in all heathen mythology, the Egyptian "Book of the dead," and taught clearly by many so called heathen philosophers.

Truly great and invaluable are the accomplishments of science, they have enriched humanity with immeasurable quantities, we could not, nor would not do without them in so far as they are beneficial. But science alone unaided by divine revelation or refusing to accept the guidance of the "spirit of truth, into the realms of the spirit world, where all things visible have their beginning and from whence they came forth, will never be able to find God. "For the spirit searcheth all things, yea the deep things of God." "For that which may be known of God is manifest in the works of Creation, for God hath showed it unto them (even the heathen)." "For the invisible things of God are clearly seen; being understood by things that are made, even His eternal power and Godhead." Nature is God's expression of himself.

Every house is builded by some man, but He that built all things is God. "By faith we understand that the worlds were formed by the word of God." The truth is, as we discover more and more, that it is only after giving reason its fullest exercise, that we recognize its limits, and there we come upon the arguments of faith. "In the beginning, God." That sounds good, even homelike, but nothing to be relied on. These words are the foundation of all true philosophy, the central meeting place of true scientific investigation. No longer will there be opposition between God and the world, between science and the Bible; when men come to a fuller knowledge of both God and His Universe. The Bible and real Christianity have nothing to fear from the most thorough scientific investigation. The Bible will always keep in the lead, beckoning science on to find and follow the footsteps of the Creator until it finds him, the pure and holy God, the immortal cause of all things. The great teachers have always realized that, let any man read the lives of the pioneers of research, let him read the story of Copernicus, of Kepler, of Newton, the men who as one of them said, "read God's thoughts after Him," and note the religious awe which filled their spirits as the realm of truth opened before them, regarding their own discovery as a new vision of God. Kepler prayed that he might find in his own soul the God whom he discovered everywhere without. The age of faith is not passed as we have often been told, and true science will be a helpmate to a larger faith in God, because of a truer and better understanding of Him. "By faith we know." As faith includes in itself some knowledge, the substance of things hoped for, so all knowledge is substantiated by faith, the evidence of things not seen. Even the materialist who proclaims aloud that the believes only in the visible, the things he can lay hold of with the physical senses, worships devoutly the unseen powers, for has he ever seen them? which permeate all matter, as the primary cause of all life and existence.

We go a step farther and say, "Nature is not Godless." By nature we mean the world of material things, and we believe that thorough investigation of Nature discloses God, as an inquiry into the constitution of the soul reveals His presence. Technically speaking, life and energy or physical powers are not identical. Back of all energy and power manifested in the material world, is the intelligent directing spiritual power, God, otherwise we are doomed to hopelessness and despair, life is without significance; the universe without meaning or design. This is the gospel of materialism, of hopelessness and despair, suicide if the ultimate goal of all, both humanity and the universe. But in the light of the Bible, we see the light, the life and the truth. "In the beginning, God created the Heaven and earth." If we refuse to accept this statement as fundamental to all existence, not as the direct result of scientific research, but as revealed by the spirit of truth, the spirit of God, we shall never come to a reasonable understanding as to the beginning of all things.

The Death of Christ upon the Cross.

That in a universe governed by the laws of a pure and moral principle. The guilty should suffer the results of his sins, and the just should have the reward of his goodness, is perfectly clear and reasonable. This conviction is voiced in many ways, by humanity even outside of the bonds of the Christian revelation. By sin death came into the world. The wage or sin is death. Jesus Christ the man of Nazareth was without sin. He could challenge His contemporaries with the question, "Which of you can convict me of sin?" He never asks God's forgiveness for Himself, and could say, "What no person ever was able to say, 'I do at all times the will of my Father who is in heaven.'" Pilate said, "I find no fault in Him," and Judas confessed, "I have betrayed innocent blood." At different times the Hebrews opened, God Himself spoke regarding Christ's personal character; "This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased." Jesus said to His disciples, before entering Gethsemane: "The prince of this world cometh and hath nothing in Me." There are not in Christ, neither in His personality, nor in His life the conditions of death. Then why that awful tragedy upon Golgotha? Where was God the just and holy One with all His promises of protection and deliverance to His saints? Bowed down in Gethsemane is no one of God's saints, but God only Son, the Holy One, hearing as the Lamb of God, the sins of the whole world. Forcibly He prayed as no man ever could pray: "Father if it be possible, let this cup pass, but not My will but Thine be done." The answer is, "Carry the Cross and be baptized upon it." Why did God send me to die? These words are the key to the death of Christ upon the cross. The death of Christ upon the cross is explained only in the light of the holy Bible if we set over the cross these words: "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him shall not perish but have everlasting life." "Even as the Son of Man came, not to be ministered unto, but to minister and to give His life, a ransom for many." Paul speaks of Jesus, saying, "In whom we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins according to the riches of His grace." St. John says of Christ, "And He is the propitiation for our sins, and not ours only, but for the sins of the whole world." Christ says: "Search the Scriptures, for in them ye think ye have eternal life, and they are they which testify of me." "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." The soul must first of all be free in order that it may grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ, "For where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty."

Clubs and Parties

Organize New Club

MRS. DIESTLER IS NAMED 26TH TIME

Long Service in Ladies Aid Society is Honored at Annual Meeting

Special to The Post-Crescent Hortonville.—Completing her twenty-fifth year as head of the Lutheran Ladies Aid society, Mrs. Charles Diestler was honored with reelection for the twenty-sixth time at the annual meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. G. E. Doettcher. Other officers elected were Mrs. Charles Lenzner, treasurer, and Mrs. L. Bubackner, secretary.

Mrs. Diestler was presented with a silver stick pin and a purse of $3 as tokens of appreciation for her long service. A social hour following the business meeting was arranged as a jubilee for Mrs. Diestler. A short program was given consisting of music and songs, and the Rev. Mr. Doettcher spoke briefly of the anniversary.

Reports showed a membership in the society of 72, of which 60 joined Thursday. Plans were made for a bazaar to be held in the near future.

PLAY CLINTONVILLE

High school basketball teams played the Clintonville high school boys and girls' teams here Friday night. The girls' game ended in a tie, 12 to 12, in the local five. The Clintonville girls were outclassed throughout the game. The boys' team lost 22 to 12. The first half ended 10 to 8 in favor of the visitors. The largest crowd of the season, including many fans from Clintonville attended the game.

The Merchants basketball team play Kewaunee Wednesday evening at Hortonville. Kewaunee won from Hortonville by one basket when the local team was on its recent tour.

SURPRISED ON BIRTHDAY

Thirty members of the Lutheran Aid society surprised Mrs. M. Peterson at the Helmsroff home Thursday night. It was Mrs. Peterson's seventy-first birthday anniversary. The evening was spent with music, singing and games.

The Septan Can Fire girls held a ceremonial meeting at the high school Thursday night. Four new members were taken in. They are Irma Rideout, Louis Herbst, Dorothy Schwebe, and Esther Vogel. A program was given.

DYE BLOUSE OR BABY'S COAT IN "DIAMOND DYES"

"Diamond Dyes" add years of wear to worn, faded skirts, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, hangings, draperies, everything. Every package contains directions so simple any woman can put new, rich, fadeless colors into her worn garments or drape-ries even if she has never dyed before. Just buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then your material will come out right, because Diamond Dyes are guaranteed not to streak, spot, fade or run. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods. adv.

JUDGE SIEBECKER DIES IN MADISON

Madison.—The state capitol is in mourning Monday. In the corridors men whisper.

The chief justice of the Wisconsin supreme court, is dead. Robert George Siebecker, son of a Sauk-co. pioneer settler, member of the highest state court since 1904, and chief justice since the death of Justice Winslow in 1920, died at his Madison home at midnight Saturday, following a complications of diseases for which he had submitted to an operation in November. He went to his bed for the last time about two weeks ago, however, and retained his vigor of mind to the last.

Justice A. J. Vinje will automatically succeed Justice Siebecker as head of the supreme court. Governor Blaines is expected to make an appointment to fill the vacant chair within three or four months.

GOVERNOR OF WISCONSIN IS NOW BOY SCOUT

Madison.—Governor John J. Blaine of Wisconsin formally became a boy scout Saturday when he took the salute up to a group of 2,969 members of the capital here at noon.

Members of troop 33 of Madison conducted the ceremonies, and Justice M. B. Rosenberry of the state supreme court administered the oath to Governor Blaine.

DETROIT ELKS TAKE LEAD IN TOURNAMENT

Chicago.—The Garden Elks of Detroit, Mich., are leading in the main event of the fifth annual national tournament of the Elks Bowling association with a grand total of 2,969 pins. Zoschke's Hupnobolles of Milwaukee who had been leading since the opening night of the tournament dropped into fifth place. The Morton Saults of Port Huron are second with 2,944, the Golden Fawns of Detroit third with 2,909 and No. 4 Elks of Indianapolis are fourth with 2,834.

You May Be Starving In The Midst of Plenty

To Be Plump, Radiant and Attractive Your Body Cells Must Extract Every Particle of Nourishment from the Food You Eat.

TANLAC ASSISTS NATURE IN THIS AS NOTHING ELSE CAN

THE wondrous grace of softly blending curves, the enchantment of virile, pliant flesh, the lure of dimpling skin and the irresistible magnetism of a body radiant with health and energy give to the normally filled-out woman an attractiveness and charm that is denied to her thin, angular, ungraceful sisters.

But, fortunately, emaciation is never natural. It is always the result of starvation. No matter how much the very thin person may be in the habit of eating, and no matter how excellent her food may be, she is in a half-starved condition. It is not the quantity of food eaten, but the quantity made use of by the body, that counts. When digestion is incomplete, or when the assimilative organs fail in their duties, one may starve in the midst of plenty.

What, then, should the thin, angular woman or man do to obtain real nourishment from food? This query has been answered by hundreds of thousands of people who have found that the use of the famous reconstructive tonic—Tanlac—so tones up and invigorates the whole digestive system, as well as the other vital organs of the body, as to promptly end the condition.

Improvement becomes noticeable at once. The appetite becomes keen and healthy, color returns to dull eyes, energy replaces lassitude and the un-putes the system into normal condition and Nature then builds the body to be the thing of grace and beauty and virile efficiency that it was intended to be. You will learn the truth of this by trying Tanlac.

Purchase Tanlac from any druggist. Do it today, and make a start toward health and greater beauty.

Tanlac is sold in Appleton by Voigt Drug Co. and by leading druggists everywhere.

THINGS NOT WHAT THEY SOUND LIKE OVER TELEPHONE

Englishman Tells of Queer Tricks He Has Heard Telephones Do

London. — If you lip, don't order your dinner by telephone. You can't get soup, nor sugar, and after you've managed to get your pork and beans and you ask what the bill is, and the waiter says: "Five dollars," you're apt to think he said "Nine."

The telephone, that is to say, being an imperfect instrument, sometimes lies. That, in effect, is the charge, against the telephone made by Dr. John Ambrose Fleming, Professor of Electrical Engineering of the University of London, in a lecture here before the Royal Institution.

But that is only part of the charge. The professor furnished a fine alibi for husbands away from home who happen to telephone by long distance to their wives while not quite in the condition they should be. Some of the words actually die out on the line. That, of course, may not be a misfortune. But worse, the words do not always even come out in the same order in which they are spoken! Sometimes they playfully leap over one another.

Telephones also have a bad habit, the professor says, of turning "fives" into "nines." S. also, is very difficult for even the best of telephones. Edison, according to Dr. Fleming, spent a month trying to make a machine say sugar, and the machine wouldn't.

And as far as efficiency goes, the telephone doesn't earn its salt.

"The ordinary electric lamp," said Dr. Fleming, "gives out ten per cent of its energy as light, but the telephone only gives out as sound a thousandth part of the energy that is put into it."

FLO NEWTON

New York. — Woe unto the bald-headed row! Farewell to the opera glasses and binoculars!

For, in time to come, there is a hint that the Broadway girly-girly shows will be heard and not seen—will be coming into the office and home via wireless.

This because of the radio-phonograph. The stunt has already been tried—and it succeeded.

Flo Newton, star of "The Perfect Fool," a Broadway musical outburst, journeyed with the whole cast over to a broadcasting station. The performance was produced before a silent audience—a shallow horn.

One of the actors explained the setting as the play progressed.

Folks on the other end of the radio-phonograph heard the harmonious singing of ensemble chorus girls, and the patter-patter of dancing feet.

On clear nights this broadcasting station reaches points as far as the Pacific coast.

WOMEN LINING UP TO OUST DOUBLE STANDARD IN LAW

Time Has Come to Have One Set of Laws for Men and Women, Leaders Say

Washington. — The "double standard," in law as well as morals, must go!

"There is still one set of laws for men and another—and harsher one—for women," she declares.

Mrs. Matthews is investigating the laws of every state in the union to see exactly how they deal with women. Her probing is preliminary to the Woman's Party campaign for an equal rights amendment to the constitution and for state equal rights bills, which will introduce into all our laws a single standard for men and women.

Mrs. Matthews summarizes some of the ways in which the laws are unfair to women as follows:

"Marriage does not alter a man's legal status in any way, but it works havoc with a woman. An American girl becomes an alien the minute she marries a foreigner.

"Government reports have pointed out that woman are the drudges of the government service. They usually get less money and fewer promotions.

"Woman finds herself in many states considered by the law in a class with children and the insane, as being incapable of full responsibility for her own property and money.

"In most states a man owns his wife's service, but the wife owns nothing but her board and keep.

"In 14 states the mother is not the legal guardian of her child."

WAISTLINES

Waistlines are quite long and generous blousing is seen on many of the very newest frocks.

Polly and Paul--and Paris

Chapter 38—The Depths

BY ZOE BECKLEY

"Listen, dear, let's not take it tragically. After all, there's nothing about it that need upset you so. Miss Rand made Rigaud reconsider giving me the contract, that's all—a mere act of friendliness, and that's all there is to it."

Polly's miserable eyes looked up from the food she was playing with on her plate.

"And you can tell me that! Why, the instant I came into your office I saw something was worrying you horribly. You never even told me you'd got the order. I only saw the thing by accident in your desk. And now she comes in with triumph and self-importance all over her face and offers congratulations! Congratulations to herself for getting you the contract—after I had failed!"

Polly bit her lip and cupped her quivering chin in her hand.

"You did not fail, my darling. If you had accepted that beast's attentions, I should have called that failure."

"Did Miss Rand accept the beast's attentions then, to get you the order?"

He was silent a moment.

"I don't think so necessarily. It's different with her. She knows—"

"That's it—she knows how, and I don't! She succeeded where I fail. I am not a competent enough wife to help my own husband in his business affairs. She comes along—and helps him in a way he cannot refuse, and flaunts her triumph in my face."

Her contempt for me kills me. I hate her—and I hate myself."

"Polly, stop being foolish! You interrupted me. What I was going to say was not that she knew how and you didn't, but that she knew Rigaud, and didn't have to forfeit self-respect in order to convince him."

"It's no good, Paul. Don't try to make me out anything but what I am—a provincial, prudish, silly little fool who couldn't manage a ticklish situation without flying into a panic. I've realized it ever since that night. I'm not the kind of wife you need. You ought to have a dashing woman who knows the world and all sorts of people—someone who'd be a credit to you—someone like—her!"

"Polly!"

"Oh, I know it. Nothing you can say alters it. I—I never felt smart enough and educated enough or—anything enough for you. Even in Les. I'm all, it used to come into my heart sometimes, that thought. But I fought it back because—"

"Then fight it back now. You don't know what you're saying. You're getting hysterical, Polly. I'm surprised you can be so silly."

"That's it—silly, you said it yourself, Paul. I feel completely out of my depth. I want my own kind of people. These clever, worldly Europeans are on my nerves. I want to go, Paul—home to simple things and my own folks. I—I'm going home."

Serves Jail Sentence In Spare Time

West Hoboken, N. J. — Every Saturday as soon as work is over August Schnoberger goes — to jail!

And every Monday morning the turnkey lets him out in time to get to work.

Schnoberger was arrested on a charge of flirting. If he were "sent up" for a continuous term, his wife and three kiddies would go hungry. So the judge, Caesar Albert, is letting him serve it out during his spare time!

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED You will when writing to children, write only a pleasant thing. A rebuke, through the mail, seldom encourages an answer from a child.

You will remove your gloves when sitting at the dinner table. You will not tip your plate to get the last spoonful of soup.

Adventures of the Twins

"Crookabone!"

Nancy sat in the middle of a queer circle, for all except Nick were ugly, misshapen gnomes of every age, that is, of every age over a hundred years. When a gnome is born, you know, he is already a hundred years old and so, of course, quite grown up. She couldn't help wishing that they wouldn't stare so, for they were peering at her with unblinking, grotesque eyes. "But then," she thought, "it is just what one may expect. No doubt they've had no bringing up at all and have never been told that it is rude to stare at company."

Self - invited company to be sure, she and Nick were, but company just the same.

The little gnome who had opened the gate nodded at her finally when he'd waited and waited, and Nancy, busy with her thoughts, hadn't said a word. "Why don't you begin?" he demanded. "Don't you know how to play 'truth'?" You told me you did, in the passage."

Nancy started. "Oh, yes," she was about to say, when Nick put a warning finger to his lips. She had almost said the forbidden word. "I beg your pardon," she began again. "I didn't mean to keep you waiting. How many questions may I ask?"

"As many as you like," answered the gnome, whose name was Crookabone, "only you must stop when someone tells you an untruth. Then he must pay you a forfeit. I'll be judge later on and impose penalties for fibbing."

Nancy smiled approvingly. "I'm glad you think so much of truth telling," she said. "It's the most important thing in the world."

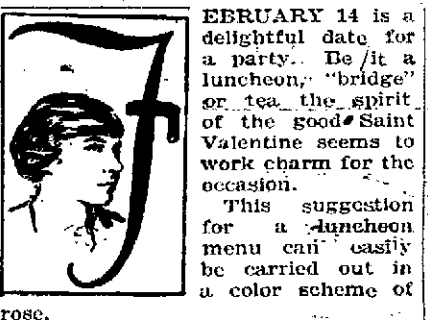

"Oh, as for that," answered Crookabone, "this isn't the world. This is a Fairyland and with us it is a matter of wits. We tell the truth without telling anything at all."

"What a queer speech!" thought Nancy.

For Valentine Day

FEBRUARY 14 is a delightful date for a party. De/it a luncheon, "bridge" or tea, the spirit of the good Saint Valentine seems to work charm for the occasion.

This suggestion for a luncheon menu can easily be carried out in a color scheme of rose.

LUNCHEON MENU

Love Apple Bisque Toasted Wafers
Salmon Croquettes with Creamed Carrots
Stuffed Olives
Baking Powder Biscuit
Fruit Salad
Lover's Delight Heart Cakes

The "love apple" bisque is nothing more nor less than tomato bisque.

If the salmon is carefully freed from skin and bone and allowed to stand sprinkled with lemon juice for an hour the croquettes will be quite as delicious as if made with more expensive fish. The carrots look very pinky in a cream sauce.

Cut the baking powder biscuits with a thin heart-shaped cutter. The salad gains its richness by means of strawberry or cherry juice, and the heart cakes are covered with pink icing.

TOMATO BISQUE

One quart tomatoes, 1 large onion, 2 medium sized potatoes, celery leaves, 18 cloves, 1 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 3 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk.

Peel onion and stick full of cloves. Put tomatoes, onion, potatoes pared and cut in quarters, celery leaves and peppercorns in kettle. Boil 20 minutes and rub through a fine sieve. Return this puree to the fire and add soda. Let come to the boiling point.

Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk. Add this sauce with salt and pepper to the tomato mixture. Bring to the boiling point, but do not let... boil... A spoonful of whipped cream may be served in each cup.

SALMON CROQUETTES

Three cups flaked salmon, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 3 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup flour, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon paprika.

Pick salmon over very carefully. Sprinkle with lemon juice and let stand an hour. Drain. Melt butter and stir in flour. Blend smoothly. Slowly add milk, stirring constantly. When this mixture thickens add egg slightly beaten and salmon. Cook and stir until mixture leaves the surface of the sauce pan. Spread on a platter to cool. Shape in croquettes, roll in fine cracker crumbs, dip in egg slightly beaten with two tablespoons water, roll again in the crumbs and fry in deep hot fat.

The fruit salad is a jellied salad made with strawberry juice and gelatine.

LOVER'S DELIGHT

Six eggs, 1 cup granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons gelatine, 1 cup cold water, 1 cup grape juice, 1 cup shredded almonds, macaroons, 1/2 pound candied cherries.

Beat whites and yolks of eggs separately. Beat sugar in yolks. Dissolve gelatine in cold water. Heat grape juice to boiling point and add to gelatine. Beat whites of eggs till stiff and dry. Add shredded almonds to egg whites.

Put gelatine over yolks of eggs and add this mixture to whites. Line a pan with macaroons and a few cherries. Pour in mixture and let stand three hours to become firm and chill. Serve with whipped cream topped with more cherries.

These rules are calculated to serve ten persons.

LETTERS TO LOVERS Wife And Work

By Winona Wilcox

MONG the questions which are put in the discard is that concerning the married woman who works for wages. Writes a non-working wife.

"Hunting excuses for conduct seem to be the absorbing occupation of some brains.

I've heard hundreds of married women tell why they did not permit friend husband to supply the family exchequer.

"Sometimes I've admired them, as I did the veteran's wife who lately told how she managed her home, and still earned a salary while her soldier-husband was studying for the bar."

"But usually I do not agree with the arguments of the employed wives. My opinion is based upon my experience. Before I married I had to face the problem. I decided to marry and help earn our home."

"So I kept on at the office and received a fine salary, but somehow we didn't get ahead very fast. It costs a girl a good deal for shoes, hats, carfare and lunches when she works down town."

"But doubtless I would be working today, if a little angel hadn't whispered that it was coming to my attention."

"His reception was expensive, nevertheless, we are at present getting ahead financially much faster than when I went to the office every day. In the old-time, it was easy come, easy go, I suppose. And now

I have time to cook, our food is twice as good and costs half as much.

"But the big point is this: My husband is more interested in his work than he was formerly and he is decidedly anxious to keep a good job. When we first married, if things went wrong it was easy for him to say, 'Oh, well! I don't like the place anyway! I can quit and we can get along on your money if I don't find a place right away!'"

"But now he sticks because there's the baby's milk bill and no more pay envelopes for the wife."

"If I had to do this over, I would not keep on working in an office after my wedding."

"That way, a man and wife so easily grow apart. At home, every evening, the wife must attend to certain duties. And in the very hours she ought to be spending with her husband."

"From hard experience, I know that the care of a home is a complete occupation in itself, and that the entertainment of a husband is another exacting employment. Both suffer when both must compete with paid employment outside the home."

"And the home reacts to the disadvantage of the job. I've heard business men say that women deplete their ability when they try to run a home and an office position. I'll say they do, for I've tried all the ways."

In the period of the readjustment of business relations, it seems proper to suggest that if the employed woman is to compete with men, she might be wise to adopt man's methods.

Who would expect a man to carry on to a great success—and do his own washing, ironing, dusting, cooking and mending?

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

Today's word is DEMAGOGUE. It's pronounced — dem-a-gahg with accent on the first syllable.

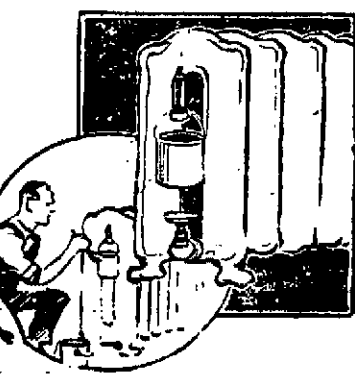

It means—a poser in politics, one who plays an insincere role to gain public support, one who inflames public passions to advance himself, a mob leader.

It comes from — Greek "demos," people, and "agēin," to lead.

Companion words — demagogic, demagogism.

It's used like this—"Those politicians who would inspire us with hatred of our neighbors and arouse strife are demagogues."

SPARE TIME JOBS FOR FATHER

Often there is a spot in the carpet just below the steam rack in the radiator. This comes from the outlet leaking and dropping water down on the floor.

Avoid this by taking an ordinary baking powder can, putting a wire handle on it, and hanging it over the steam rack. To make it look best, tint the can the same color as the radiator.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR STATE BOWLING TOURNEY

BIG PIN SERIES FOR ELKS OPENS HERE SATURDAY

Entries All in for Wisconsin Meet to be Staged on Appleton Drives

Plans are complete for the tenth annual state bowling tournament for Elks to be held on the alleys in Elk clubhouse beginning on Feb. 18 and continuing until March 31. The schedule will be completed Monday afternoon and copies mailed to all contestants. All other arrangements for the big pin series have been made. Two hundred and ninety-eight teams are entered in the tournament, including 246 five-man teams from lodges over Wisconsin and 51 quintets from the Appleton lodge. Green Bay and Milwaukee share honors for high entries from out of town, these cities each sending 25 five-man teams. The Superior lodge with three teams entered is the lodge farthest away from Appleton sending teams for the big meet.

The tournament will open next Saturday afternoon in Elks' home when the official starting balls will be rolled down the six alleys. The first balls will be rolled by Mayor J. Austin Hawes, Chief of Police George T. Prim, Chairman of the County Board Dan J. Ryan, Chairman of Elks' State Bowling Committee F. A. Hammond and Exalted Ruler Daniel P. Steinberg. Immediately following the opening ceremonies the City Dads team of this city and another team to be selected will go on the No. 1 and No. 2 drives and four Milwaukee teams will take the remaining four drives and the championship series will be on.

The alleys in Elks home will be put in the best possible shape. The drives will be closed Wednesday and experts will go over them on Thursday and Friday to put them into condition to stand up under the pounding they will receive. Every rough spot will be taken out and they will be smooth and fast when the tournament gets underway. Bleachers will be erected for spectators.

Many crack bowlers will appear in Appleton during the series and high marks are sure to be made. Among the famous maple busters scheduled to roll in the tournament are Jimmy Smith, world's champion, and Dr. Ehke, now leading the world's championship series in Chicago. These men are members of the Milwaukee lodge and will roll with Milwaukee teams.

Liberal response has been given by merchants of Appleton in putting up merchandise for fellowship prizes to be awarded during the tournament. The committee in charge is anxious that giving prizes to the contestants be given by the community. J. H. Balliet or Daniel P. Steinberg as early as possible this week.

LAWRENCE FIVE DEFEATS MILTON

Blue and White Quintet Takes Second Game of Trip by 27 to 9 Score

Milton—The Lawrence college basketball team easily defeated the Milton college quintet here Saturday night by a score of 27 to 9. The Blue and White took the lead soon after start of hostilities and was never headed or in danger during the entire contest.

The Milton attack was unable to penetrate the strong Lawrence defense while the Blue and White offense easily smashed through the Milton guards for many close in shots at the hoop.

After his team had taken a safe lead in the first half, Coach McChesney sent in substitutes to finish up the game and the second string men played Milton better than ever.

When two outfielders collide in going after a fly ball, and both are rendered unconscious by the collision, when should the umpire call time? Such a play came up with runners on first and second and two out. Both runners were thrown out at third by the remaining outfielder who had not figured in the collision. When such a play comes up, the umpire has no right to call time until there is no further chance for play, and the pitcher is on the rubber with the ball.

In the above play the umpire rendered the proper ruling. If both runners had crossed the plate before the batter was retired, the runs count. If time was called when players collided in going after a ball, it would place a premium on feigning injury.

RADEBAUGH WILL LEAD BELOIT GRID SQUAD

Beloit—Carroll Radebaugh, star Beloit halfback, has been elected to the captain of Robert Irvine, who was chosen to captain the 1922 team soon after the close of last season. Irvine was declared ineligible because he was not a matriculated student of the college. He entered Beloit last spring from the University of Chicago. Radebaugh was all-state halfback

WISCONSIN FIVE SECOND IN RACE FOR CAGE TITLE

Badgers Half Game Behind Purdue Quintet in Big Ten Basketball Chase

BIG TEN STANDINGS

	W.	L.	Pct.

Indiana	2	3	.400
Michigan	1	3	.250
Iowa	1	4	.200
Northwestern	0	6	.000

SATURDAY'S RESULTS

Illinois 29; Minnesota 28.
Iowa 27; Chicago 17.
Purdue 24; Indiana 19.

Wisconsin holds second place in the Western Conference basketball championship race. The Badgers slipped into third place Friday night when they handed the Illinois quintet a beating and took second position, just one-half game behind Purdue, now at the top of the heap, when Illinois triumphed over Minnesota Saturday night.

Upsets again featured Big Ten games Saturday night. Iowa got into the win column when the Hawkeyes defeated Chicago, the team that lowered the colors of Illinois a week ago, and Purdue, pulled the unexpected when the Boilermakers defeated Indiana, the team that downed Minnesota last week.

The result of the Illinois-Minnesota game was the big surprise of the week. After losing to Wisconsin Friday night, the Suckers were expected to fall easy victims to the Gopher five but Illinois won out 29 to 28 in a great rally near the end of the struggle.

Tom Gibbons and Harry Greb have been matched to battle in a 15 round decision fight in New York City on March 13. The winner of this battle will get a crack at Gene Tunney and his American light heavyweight title. This three cornered affair of the ring is in the nature of an elimination tournament to select an opponent for Georges Carpentier, that is if the gorgeous Georges can be persuaded to return to these shores to do battle with the king of the American light heavyweights.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Now that Benny Leonard has polished off Rocky Kansas in a decisive manner and has proven to the doubt-fol ones that he can make 135 pounds and be strong for a battle, who is there left to send against the great lightweight king? Three or four boys, among them being Lew Tindler, Charley White and Sailor Friedman, want a crack at Benny's crown but none of these boxers is in a class with Leonard. The lightweight champion is in the same fix as Jack Dempsey, ruler of the heavyweights, in that he is so much better than all other men of his poundage that there are no like-ly challengers for his title.

Leonard, with all his meal tickets, in the lightweight division punched out, is hankering to mingle with the heavier boys and is after a scrap with Jack Britton, welterweight champion. This match is now in the making and will be staged sometime this spring. Leonard will enter the ring against Britton weighing around 140 pounds and will be only three or four pounds lighter than the welterweight title holder. These two great batters appear to be evenly matched. They are both clever boxers, each packs a knockout wallop in either hand and are the equal of any two fighters that ever stepped in the squared circle in ring generalship. They should put up a struggle that will be long remembered in fight circles. Leonard will have many supporters when he goes into action against the aged Britton and will likely be the favorite in the betting.

The boxing show to be staged in Oshkosh on March 2 will be of special interest to Appleton fans for several boxers who will make their appearance on the program live in surrounding towns and are well known here. Chick Remick of Menasha will be pitted against Young Morris of Oshkosh in the semi-main event of eight rounds. Jack Zwick of Kaukauna and Young Sanders of Oshkosh will mingle in the six round opener. Eddie McGorothy of Oshkosh and Bud Gorman will go ten rounds in the main event.

The pennant race in the Central Wisconsin basketball league closed Saturday night when Fond du Lac and Neenah met in a game that decided the title and officials of the circuit say they are satisfied with interest shown in the organization this season. It was the first attempt in this section of the state to promote a professional basketball league and one of two cities great interest was shown by the fans. Plans for next year are already being made and the league officials expect to put the circuit on a more substantial basis and stage a longer race. Rules will be drawn up at a meeting to be held this month and one law sure to go on the books will be a strict rule against tampering with college players.

After suffering a defeat at the hands of Minnesota early in the season Wisconsin has come back with a rush and is again a contender for the Big Ten basketball championship. Coach Meanwell's athletes took the strong Illinois team into camp Friday night and with only Iowa, Michigan, Northwestern and Indiana to be met, all of whom have tasted defeat at the hands of the Badgers, Wisconsin will be among the leaders, if not first under the wire, when the race is over.

One bitterly contested basketball game to be staged yet this season is the struggle between the Appleton and Fond du Lac High school teams at the district tournament in the Oshkosh Normal gymnasium next month. These teams have met twice this season and each has a victory over the other to its credit. They will play on a neutral floor when they resume the struggle which will determine which team is the stronger.

NEW CONFERENCE OF COLLEGES IS ALMOST CERTAIN

Western Schools Will Combine to Define Rules for Athletics

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Formation of a new western college athletic conference, composed of the larger and more influential institutions outside of the present big ten, appeared a practical certainty Monday.

Agitation toward formation of a new conference which has been heard for several years, has rapidly approached a head since the recent airing of professionalism charges among college athletes of the midwest.

Organization of a conference, its backers claim, would result in the drawing up of definite eligibility rules and would lift suspicion from all colleges where there might now be any thought of taint of professionalism.

There has long been a general feeling that any college not coming under conference regulations, was making its own eligibility rules. This, however, has not been the case as the midwestern colleges have lived up to the standard set by the big ten members themselves. If they were working under a conference regulations, they would get the credit for their efforts to cleanse college sports.

CREATE GREATER INTEREST
The proposed makeup of the new conference consists of colleges and universities which now play many football and basketball games with each other. If the conference was formed, it would give all of the institutions a definite standing in the field of sports and would result in greater interest in the sports by the lay public.

Among the universities proposed for the conference are: Michigan Aggies, Washburn, Creighton, University, Notre Dame, Nebraska, Marquette, St. Louis and possibly Kansas.

These would make an exceptionally strong circuit. Most of the colleges are located in large cities, insuring a possibility for sufficient financial support.

A meeting will be held in St. Paul the early part of next week which will consider formation of a "north-west conference."

It is not improbable that two new circuits will grow out of this meeting. The colleges proposed for the northwest conference include: St. Thomas, Creighton, Marquette, Michigan Aggies, University of North Dakota, North Dakota State, Marquette, South Dakota State and University of South Dakota.

COUNTY TOURNAMENT IS UNDERWAY AT WAUKESHA

By United Press Leased Wire
Hardland, Wis.—The first annual basketball tournament of Waukesha county will open here Monday night with teams from all parts of the county entered.

The tournament is being staged to boost amateur basketball in the county and give the teams something to play for, the county championship. Business men of this city are donating prizes and are promoting the event.

The success Phil Douglas of the Giants had in the world series using a curve ball has convinced him that it should work it more and cut down on his "splitter."

HOLDOUTS WORRYING BIG LEAGUE BOSSES

Yankee Colonels Declare They Will Not Meet Demands of Players

By Henry L. Farrell
New York—Strong methods in dealing with "holdouts" are being planned by the major league magnates.

With practically all of their star players holding out, the Yankees are up against it but the club owners say they are going to make it an issue once and for all.

Ruth wants $40,000 and pay while he is "serving his sentence." Waite Hoyt wants $15,000 and substantial increases have been asked by the other regulars.

One has the biggest payroll in the game now and we are not going any higher," Col. Jacob Ruppert, president of the club, says. "If necessary we will put a brand new young team on the field."

It may sound like empty talk from a championship club but it looks like a real threat because the Yankees scouts are after Jack Conlin, Harvard star-stop, Frank McGuire, Holy Cross second baseman, and other college stars. Hinkley Haines and Glenn Killinger, Penn State stars, are already on contracts.

CHICAGO MAN LEADING IN BOWLING CLASSIC

Chicago—Fred Thoma of Chicago leads in the world's classic championship bowling tournament here with a total of 158 15-50 points in 35 games. D. DeVito of Chicago is second with 167 19-30 points in same number of games and F. Kafora of Chicago is third with 137 25-50 in 39 games.

J. Powell of Kenosha, Wis., is sixth with 124 15-50 in 30 games. J. Smith of Milwaukee is twelfth with 108 33-50 in 25 games and Dr. Ehke of Milwaukee is 18th with 106 27-50 in 25 games.

Catcher Eddie Gharity of the Washington club has developed into the most dangerous batter in the American League. He is noted for his extra base hits.

PLAN TO SETTLE PREP GRID TITLE

State High School Football Championship to be Decided Each Year

Plans are under consideration by members of the board of control of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association whereby a clear-cut state high school football championship may be decided. It is planned to arrange schedules so that undisputed sectional winners may be definitely determined and these sectional champions to meet for the Wisconsin interscholastic title.

Stern efforts by members of the board are contemplated in the handling of prep school sports. In order to qualify for a district tournament, a high school team must now play at least six games with Wisconsin member schools. A noncompliance will bar the offending school from the district tournament.

Winning teams of the district basketball tournaments will play at the University of Wisconsin March 23, 24 and 25, the expenses of each team being guaranteed by the university. Suitable medals and special awards will be given.

Intersectional basketball tournaments to decide the teams to represent the districts at the state meet will be held at Whitewater, Milwaukee, Superior, Ploverville, LaCrosse, Stevens Point, River Falls, Eau Claire, Oshkosh and Stout. Uniform awards of medals and prizes will be given in the district tournaments.

The question of placing the competitive age limit in high schools at 21 instead of 20 is being favorably considered by the board. Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Dakota and Minnesota have this standard.

Feel Stiff and Achy After Every Cold?

Do You Have Constant Backache? Feel Old and Lame and Suffer Sharp, Rheumatic Pains? Then Look to Your Kidneys!

DOES every cold, chill or attack of grip leave you worn-out and utterly miserable? Do you feel old and lame, stiff and rheumatic? Does your back ache with a dull, unceasing throb, until it seems you just can't stand it any longer?

Then look to your kidneys! Grip, colds and chills are mighty hard on the kidneys. They fill the blood with poisons and impurities that the kidneys must filter off. The kidneys weaken under this rush of new work; become congested and inflamed.

"Use Doan's," Say These Appleton Folks:

ALBERT McALLISTER, retired farmer, 1025 Oneida-St., says: "I was bothered with backache, which kept getting worse all the time until it was so that when I stooped over I couldn't straighten again. Sharp pains bothered me constantly and made it hard for me to do anything. I had heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought a box. In three days' time, the backache had disappeared and I could do my work as well as ever. I certainly can praise Doan's."

MRS. W. H. KRAMER, 815 Hancock-St., Appleton, says: "I suffered from rheumatic and kidney trouble. I was so lame, I couldn't do my housework. I had pains in all parts of my body and headaches and dizzy spells left me entirely unfit for any work. I tried different remedies but nothing did me good until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. I give Doan's all the credit for my recovery." (Statement given September 4, 1908.)

On September 13, 1919, Mrs. Kramer said: "Doan's Kidney Pills did me a world of good in the past and I haven't needed them now in several years."

MINKLEY SIGNS TO WRESTLE ZBYSZKO

George Hill, Appleton heavyweight wrestler, will not get a crack at Stanislaus Zbyszko in Milwaukee on Feb. 24. The Milwaukee promoters have signed Arnold Minkley of Iowa, light heavy champion, to meet the champion on Feb. 24 in a 12 round decision bout. Hill plans to be at the ringside on the night of the match and challenge the winner.

and order and the enforcement of law. Seldom, however, does such eloquence ever relate to the millionaires' tax-dodgers—the vain or the covetous—that appropriates to himself or itself money that belongs to the government. We hear it daily thundered from many platforms that the law must be enforced. Now, it is just as important to command respect for the law affecting taxation as to command respect for any other law. Government will be undermined as quickly through the violation of our tax laws as through the violation of any other law.

The governor read part of the message which he sent to the legislature concerning repeal of the secrecy clause of the income tax law, declaring that the clause is a "tax-dodger" and that it advocates it. He argued that the secrecy clause put a premium on dishonesty and palsied the arm of government.

"It comes to me," the governor said, "that hundreds of millions of taxable income has not been returned to the assessors; that some hundreds of thousands of dollars rightly due the state and municipalities have not been collected; that one corporation has withheld income from the tax rolls of $1,700,000; that double books of account, one for the taxpayer's private business, and one for the assessor, have been kept in some instances; that in some cases taxable income has been retained by conscious fraud; in other cases by reason of carelessness, and in still others from ignorance of law or fact."

According to the state executive, thorough investigation by field auditors of the Tax commission has showed gross errors and frauds. The secrecy clause prevents even the governor from knowing the exact situation. He also criticized the provision in the income tax law which prevents the tax commission to reach back further than three years in its investigations although gross error may have been made.

Mr. Blaine said that facts would sustain every word which he said.

The two auditors of the tax commission audited tax returns filed during 1921 for 1920 and corrected 1,187 returns. In 1,130 cases the income was increased and in only 67 cases was it reduced. The books of 55 corporations were examined by field auditors for 1917 to 1920 inclusive. The additional income resulting from field audits was more than $4,600,000 and from office audits more than $4,200,000 making a total of $8,899,000. The increased taxes for the one year were $410,173 from field audits and $351,529 from office audits, increasing the taxes in one year to the amount of $761,702.

"Publicity makes honest returns," said the governor. "Secrecy invites dishonest returns, and results in cheating and defrauding the state. If we could go back and correct the income returns for the years 1915, 1916 and 1917, and continue the field audit through the years 1918, 1919, 1920 and 1921, there is no doubt in the mind of any honest man but that the tax-dodgers and profiteers would disgorge millions of dollars of income taxes, of which the state has been defrauded."

"When millions of dollars of just taxes are withheld from your town, city, village, county and state treasury, the result is that honest men must pay the burdens that dishonest men escape. It means that when millions of dollars of just taxes are withheld, there is an inequitable distribution of taxes; and that is why I say that the repeal of the secrecy clause, and the extending of the time for auditing the income returns, beginning in 1915, constitute two items in the bill of particulars for the equalization of taxes."

"There is nothing that makes the poor man 'see red' so much as the knowledge that there is a lax enforcement of the law for the rich, and a strict enforcement for the poor. Our aim is to be just to all, and to compel all classes to comply with the public policy of the state as determined by the public authority. I think the people are prepared to throw the gauntlet to predatory and criminal wealth. I think, when the truth is known, the people will demand that the tax laws of the state shall be enforced without partiality, and that rich and poor shall stand equal before the law."

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied, with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known druggist says every body uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through the hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color, and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. adv.

Looks Like This Chap Is Kidding The "Pie Editor"

During the cookery contest, many interesting letters came to the contest editor. Here is one from a man who says he knows all about pie and maybe so. Here is his suggestion:

My dear Pie Editor—I am here man—be fer whom they are made—But I have me, I know PIES! I have eaten them for half a century in every state of the union and in the realms of most of the uncrowned heads of Europe, and what is more, I can make PIES, but not the kind that mother used to make, for the flower of youth is out, but I can make PIES!

First requirement—a museum of frames, which will reveal the fact that a pie with two crusts is, generally speaking, an abomination to the lord of the stomach; first, because for the stomach's sake you should avoid the double dose of pastry, and second because in nine pieces out of ten the lower crust is soaked or as rock. Use brains then, and put the stuffing in first and top the crust, or if you have time to fuss, bake the crust first and then add the upwards.

But now I have mentioned crust and that is the whole story. It is the spirit de tarte and without it, you can do nothing. It is comparatively easy to bake even pie crust in the old home town, but if you seek a way that will work whether you are on the heights or in the depths read on, for here is the one and only rule that will make ye perfect crust whether you be away down with brother McElroy or chasing sunbams on the Himalayas.

Behold:

Into a half cup of lard melted and hot, sift two cups of flour with a quarter teaspoonful of Cream of Tartar and a pinch of salt. Stir it up and add a small half cup of cold water.

That's all! Roll it up in a ball if you wish and put it in the icebox and whenever you wish pie crust or tart, unroll, you have it, or use it instantly. It is THE crust of crusts! And there is only one way to make a real pie! Put all the fruit or anything good, that your conscience will allow in a round dish at least four inches deep; then put in a lot more, and then put on the wonder crust and bake it right, and if you have followed the rule without using your judgment, you'll have a PIE that is, and fit for gods or men, and the kind mother makes in England and New England, too!

Truly yours,
P. I. EATER.
Here are more of the more serious pie recipes:

POTATO PIE
A common sized teacup of grated raw potatoes, 1 qt. sweet milk. Let milk boil and stir in grated potatoes, when cold add two or three eggs well beaten. Sugar and a little nutmeg to taste. Bake without upper crust. Eat the day it is baked. Cream Pie Pastry.
1-2 cups flour.
1-2 tsp. baking powder.
1-4 tsp. salt.
Cream enough to make it as stiff as shortcake. — Mrs. Peter Wolff, 665 Kernan-ave.

APRICOT CREAM PIE
2 cups flour.
1-2 cup shortening (butter or oleomargarine)
4 tbsp. sugar.
1-2 tsp. salt.
1 egg.
2 tsp. vanilla extract.
1 tsp. baking powder.
2 cups canned or cooked apricots drained from juice.

Whipped cream, 1 tsp. vanilla and 1 tsp. sugar.
Angelica.
Preserved cherries.

Rob shortening into flour, add salt, sugar, baking powder, break egg in and mix well with fork, then add vanilla, roll out, line pie tin, line with paper and put in some rice or peas to keep paste from rising. Bake in hot oven twenty minutes. Remove rice and paper. When cold, fill with apricots. Cover with whipped cream to which has been added 1 tsp. vanilla and 1 tsp. sugar. Decorate with preserved cherries and angelica. — Mrs. Theodore H. Lembecke, 827 Meade-st.

STRAWBERRY TAPIoca CREAM PIE

2 egg whites.
1-2 cup tapioca.
Cold water to cover.
1-1-3 cup boiling water.
1-1-2 cup strawberry pulp.
Sweeten to taste.
1-8 tsp. salt.
Rind 1-4 lemon.
1-2 pt. whipped cream, 1 tsp. vanilla, 2 tsp. sugar.

Wash and soak the tapioca one hour or more in enough cold water to cover. Add the boiling water, strawberry pulp, salt, sugar, and lemon rind. Cook in a double boiler, until tapioca is transparent. Minute tapioca may be used and this requires no soaking. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Remove from range. Pour in baked pie shell. Let stand till cold. Just before serving, cover with whipped cream to which has been added 1 tsp. vanilla and 2 tsp. sugar. If you wish to decorate this pie, you can use a few fresh ripe whole strawberries. —

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with
"California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup. adv.

SAGO CREAM PIE

1-2 pt. whipping cream,
1-2 cup sago,
2 cups scalded milk.
2 eggs.
1-3 cup sugar.
1-4 tsp. salt.
1 tsp. vanilla or grated rind of one lemon.

A few candied cherries. Pick over sago and wash, drain, add to milk and cook in a double boiler until sago is transparent. Mix the yolks with sugar and salt. Combine mixtures by pouring hot mixture slowly into egg mixture and cook in a double boiler until thickened. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Remove from range. Add flavoring. Pour into baked pie shell. Let stand until cold. Just before serving cover with whipped cream and decorate with candied cherries. A very good new pastry is: 2 cups flour, 3-4 cups butter, 1 egg, 1 tsp. lemon juice and sufficient cold water to hold the mixture together. 3-4 tsp. salt. Sift flour and salt into basin. Flour blade of knife, and chop shortening into flour, being careful to keep flour between blade of knife and shortening. When mixture looks like meal, add gradually egg well beaten and mixed with lemon juice. Add cold water enough so as to roll pastry into ball with knife. May be used at once, but will be improved if allowed to stand in cool place for one hour. Should be rolled out once and handled as lightly as possible. May be used for sweet or savory dishes. Bake in hot oven. The purpose of the addition of lemon is to render gluten of flour more ductile, so that it will stretch rather than break as paste is rolled out or as it rises in oven. Sufficient for two pies.—Mrs. Theodore H. Lembecke, 827 Meade-st.

The New Simmons Beds

Distinctive in Character and Design

Among the new spring furniture just being unpacked are forty-two Simmons Beds of the new designs in single and double sizes.

They are the continuous tube type so desirable because of their great durability and noiselessness. Some are round, some oval and some square.

Many of them have been designed to harmonize with the period furniture and are beautifully finished in ivory, dull walnut and antique brown mahogany.

The twin bed sizes offer an unusual opportunity for creating distinctive atmosphere enabling you to use your specially choice dresser or toilet table, thus avoiding any extreme additional expense in the re-grouping of your sleeping rooms.

You will be interested in seeing the large variety of designs now displayed. The prices range from $8.75 for the continuous round tube bed to $34.50 each for the special square tube beds.

RED

Glow in New Shades
from Hats for Spring

SPRING REDS are not the colors one finds in millinery designed to wear on cold days. Quite to the contrary, the red shades that are to be smart this Spring are just full of warm sunshine. Cherry red is very good. In several instances it is used with a trimming of glace cherries, after the French manner. A cherry red hat would be a gay thing with no trimmings at all.

Cherry red combines with no other colors quite so well as with grey. A band of soft grey silk flowers is used to trim a small-mushroom shape of cherry red straw cloth. The effect is delightful. This typical spring material makes an inexpensive little hat with a peaked front. It is simply trimmed with a broad band of faille silk studded with iridescent beads at intervals.

One of those small hats that can be worn so pertly has the entire crown of foliage and a narrow brim of silk. The foliage is slightly mottled in shadings but the general effect is red. Small bunches of grapes in soft pastel colors trim the front of the hat. Still another red hat is entirely of gros grain ribbon. Priced from $8. to $16.
